What Is a Network and Why Do You Need One?

A network is simply the people you know and the people they know. Networking is a fancy term for “word of mouth”. Most jobs are not advertised in classified ads, or with employment agencies, or anywhere else. Most jobs are part of the “hidden” job market.

How Do I Use a Network?

Using your network means talking to people to find job leads or information about where jobs might be available.

Who Is in Your Network?

Enlist everyone you can think of to support your job search.
